ALBANY, N. Y., October 18.—(By the Associated Press)—A honeymoon in the executive mansion until tomorrow and then back to Brooklyn, college and a flat. Such are the plans of Alfred E. Smith, Jr., the governor's son and his bride of less than a week whom he married last night before a city clerk, there in a church.

"At Jr., works for a law firm in spare time, drawing $20 a week. The rest of the day is spent in Fordham school. Asked how he expected to finance his flat on $20 per, he smiled and said that had been arranged. The new Mrs. Smith has captured the hearts of the executive family.

"She has a way with her," said the bridegroom. "We all liked her the minute she came."

John W. Davis Will Carry Kentucky, Says David Lawrence; Sen. Stanley Has Hard Fight in Blue Grass State

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1924 By Times Publishing Co.)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 18.—John W. Davis will carry Kentucky. This state said by James M. Cox, in 1920, when even Tennessee broke away. It is the state which was less than 6,000, but it remained in the Democratic column just the same.

There was a time of resentment in 1920 which does not exist today. Four years have served to turn back to the Democratic party many of those who for one reason or another, strayed away. The late A. T. Hart, one of the ablest and most influential organizers, was responsible for the improvement in Republican vote in this state in 1920. No one has arisen to take his place.

Kentucky is not without its local issues, however, which may have some bearing on the result. Senator Augustus Owens Stanley who won the Democratic nomination after a hard fight, seems to be capable of stirring up violent opposition either to his "wetness" or a half dozen other things which started when he was governor. He is the center of a very exciting campaign. The Louisville Courier-Journal, owned by Judge R. W. Bingham, is supporting John W. Davis for president, but Fred Hackett, the Republican nominee for the Senate.

On account of his anti-prohibition views, Stanley is presumed to have the opposition of the women. But there is no La Follette candidate in these parts and Stanley will get most of the votes that are to be cast in Kentucky for La Follette. This may take care of some of the Stanley losses. He will have a close fight for reelection. The national ticket will help him.

The vote this year in Kentucky will be large. A bond issue for good roads is being voted upon. That always brings out the voter. The registration thus far in the cities shows a gain. There is no way to tell about the rural districts but a large ballot is expected because the Republicans in one end of the state favor the bond issue, while the Democrats at the other end oppose it. The Republicans who will take the trouble to come down from the mountains to vote probably will vote a straight Republican ticket for United States senator and everything else.

In the face of all these characteristics, Kentucky may roll up as high as 30,000 for John W. Davis and if such a vote is polled, Senator Stanley might pull through.

Kentucky exhibits little interest in the campaign as a whole. The La Follette people are as usual making considerable noise and may get as high as 100,000 votes in Kentucky, though this is a maximum figure and the probabilities are it will go much lower. But the La Follette votes are coming in about equal proportions from the Democrats and Republican parties so the effect on the two major parties will be about the same. Charles G. Dawes has been here a week. The campaign seems hardly to have gotten started. Republicans outwardly are claiming the state but one suspects that they are doing this in the hope of gathering votes and holding them for the state ticket. Nobody ever

"Nicky" Arnstein Indicted On Charge Of Conspiracy

Jersey City, N. J., October 18.—(By the Associated Press)—"Nicky" Arnstein and five alleged accomplices are under indictment today on a charge of having conspired to obtain $500,000 from Nathan Weiss, wealthy contractor, by a wire tapping scheme.

The indictments which were returned last night, name James Watkins, Walter Clyde Smith and Morris Blaufrank, all of Youngstown, Ohio; Charles Drucker, of Pittsburgh; and Milton Smarsh, of New York, as Arnstein's accomplices.

The six men are charged in the indictments with accompanying Weiss to Youngstown and Pittsburgh to gamble in stocks and horse racing, representing to him they were able to get advance information and make "sure bets."

Weiss said he bet $500 and won $1,200 and then put up $50,000 to win $200,000, but as soon as his money was up there was a fake raid on the pool room and he was told to leave town by supposed detectives.

Arnstein is now serving a prison sentence at Atlanta for the theft of securities.

Scandal Involves Former Beauty; Tried To Kill Husband

LE HAVRE, October 18.—(By the Associated Press)—A scandal involving a former New York beauty, twice married, was precipitated today by charges of Lucien Deubel, prominent French sportsman, that his wife deliberately shot him with a gun following a quarrel.

Mme. Deubel wished to re-marry her second husband, he charged.

The shooting took place at a hunt at the Chateau Des Hogues and was at first attributed to an accident.

Mme. Deubel was arrested yesterday, however, the police claiming to have additional evidence that the shooting was deliberate. Deubel then came forward with the accusation that his wife fired upon him at close range as he was stepping from an automobile in front of the chateau.

Previous dispatches from Le Havre erroneously reported Deubel to have died as a result of his wounds.

Mme. Deubel's maiden name was York City.

"Her first husband was Guy Hache, 21, at the time of their marriage. The second, Max Martin, was only 16.

French Select Successor To Ambassador To United States

PARIS, October 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Emile Desechne, director of administrative affairs at the Quai d'Orsay, who is considered in French official circles and among the chancelleries of Paris as the best trained diplomat in the French service, will most probably succeed Jules Jusserand as French ambassador at Washington within a few weeks.

"The news is not yet official and no appointment has been made."

M. Desechne himself said today it would be good news to him if it proved to be true but that his only information about his reported appointment was gleaned from today's papers. It was semi-officially confirmed at the foreign office however, that M. Desechne had been chosen to succeed the retiring incumbent at Washington. The announcement of this decision, it was added, had been premature because the agreement of the American and other governments to the various diplomatic appointments in view had not yet been received but it was expected there would be no objections.

M. Desechne, who comes from a fine old Alsatian family, was for a long time the right hand man in London to the late Paul Cambon, who was called the "mentor" of French diplomacy.

M. Desechne was a collaborator, confidential advisor and chief of bureau of the late Maurice Rouvier, and of Raymond Poincaré when they were premiers, and of Leon Bourgeois, the outstanding French apostle of peace.

Attorney Appears for La Follette Says "Three Huge Funds Being Collected to Defeat Will of People"

(BY JAMES T. KOLBERT)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, October 18.—(By the United Press)—Republicans are dumping more than $100,000 into the presidential campaign Senator La Follette, leader of the Independent ticket today charged through his attorney, Frank P. Walsh, before the senate campaign fund committee.

"I appear here because Senator La Follette cannot be present," Walsh stated. "I am here as his attorney. Senator La Follette told me to tell this committee that more than $100,000 is being spent in this campaign by the Republicans to defeat the will of the people."

All the evidence in the case has been secured from "credible witnesses and other reliable sources and leads us to believe that the charge is a fact," Walsh said.

"Senator La Follette in talking to me on a long distance phone at Kansas City, said he had under-estimated his charge made that a 'slush fund' of five million dollars was being raised," Walsh said. "We have leads to show that the fund will run to $10,000,000 or perhaps $12,000,000. Senator La Follette also has asked me to tell you he does not want this to take on a partisan tinge and that we are not seeking evidence and documents to suit our case. We will simply present all the evidence."

Walsh also announced that Samuel Undermyer, noted lawyer of New York City, would associate with him in the alleged "slush fund" inquiry.

"Three campaign funds are being collected for the Republicans," Walsh stated. One is by the national Republican committee, the second is by the bankers of the country, and the third is by the manufacturers and business men, Walsh said.

Walsh read several letters written by J. R. Grundy, of Bristol, Pa., asking the people of the state to raise sufficient funds to guarantee the retention of the present administration.

Claim Progressives Are Lenin and Trotsky

One letter, excerpts of which were read by Walsh, said La Follette and his running mate, Senator Wheeler, are Lenin and Trotsky, and holds the defect of the Republican administration would result in the "Red Menace" holding sway in America. Another letter, which was read, said that the people of the state to raise sufficient funds to guarantee the retention of the present administration.

The letters conclude with a request for support to continue Coolidge and Mellon in office and a continuation of prosperity.

"Gratitude and intelligent self-interest are two of the fundamental motives of civilization," the letters declared.

"This is the most brazen, most amazing piece of materialism ever to come into the politics of our country," Walsh said. Grundy is a wealthy yarn manufacturer, and that he signed himself as "Chairman of the Republican Party" of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Grundy also read a letter for campaign funds over the signature of W. H. Fulwell, of the Manufacturers' Club of Philadelphia, and asked Senator Borah, chairman of the senate committee to subpoena Fulwell for cross-examination. Walsh also said he would to cross examine the manager of the Republican publicity bureau to determine where the huge publicity fund was spent.

Walsh then asked the committee to subpoena W. G. Gallager, chairman of the ways and means committee of the District of Columbia, who also wrote letters soliciting funds. An excerpt from one letter, read into the records, follows:

"I was at a director's meeting last Thursday and one of the officers said that the bankers' convention at Chicago a few days ago had requested that all trust companies be requested to give one-twentieth of one percent of their capital and the National Banks one-tenth of one percent of their assets as contribution to fight La Follette in the west. Edward T. Stotesbury was made chairman of the committee to collect the money."

Attacks Coolidge And Hodges
Walsh made a sharp attack on President Coolidge and William V. Hodges, national treasurer for the Republicans, for alleged failure to curb the price of sugar. Walsh charged that Hodges was a "paid agent of sugar interests."

More than a year and a half ago the department of justice and the tariff commission of Washington were called on to investigate the price of sugar which Walsh said was pushed to a point where it represented a direct toll of $30 a year on every family in the country above the legitimate profit.

"The department of justice never took any action so far as he could ascertain," Walsh continued. Three months ago the tariff commission made a report to President Coolidge setting out in detail the "abuse" of the sugar interest, Walsh said. Walsh then said that Hodges appeared before the tariff commission and others "to keep up the price."

"The fact that this matter is under advisement before President Coolidge and this man is Republican national treasurer is an escalation of national portions," Walsh told the committee.

Walsh charged that all the literature sent out by the Republicans was in the nature of an "alarmist appeal." He declared the labelling of the citizens of the country as "seditionists."

Senator Caraway, Democrat, member of the committee, broke in to inquire whether the aim was to "debunk La Follette."

"I think that is what they call it," Walsh answered, "but I want to say the mission of senator La Follette is to de-louse the political parties of the country regardless of whether they are Republican or Democrat."

Pickens, 34 year old insurance agent, from the Sunshine Fishing camp on the Little Miami river to Taylorsport, Ky., near where his body was found floating in the Ohio River today, Edward Nagel Jr., charged with the murder in connection with the death of Pickens continued to maintain his innocence.

Nagel, arraigned today, pleaded not guilty. Hearing was set for October 21.

The spot where the body of Pickens was found is more than 20 miles from Cincinnati. Employees of First Bank Dam who discovered it, found the body wrapped in a blanket secured by ropes. Detectives said the body was weighted with stones. This led to the assumption that it was taken by automobile to the spot and cast in the river.

Members of Millbrook Council, No. 77 Daughters of America of New Boston are invited to attend a weiner roast to be held tonight at the Laybelle home on the West Side.

Has Prize Corn
Dave Cheatwood, cosecho weather prophet, who has been working for Claude Turner on the Joseph Brant farm at Clifford brought to the city today four ears of "yardstick" yellow corn which he claims is some of the finest ever produced in this county. He says he has been cutting corn since he was a boy and is 75 now and that this is the best corn he ever cut.

The corn was produced on bottom land that two years ago was considered worthless and unfit for corn. The land was planted in sweet clover and this spring this was turned under for fertilizer. Corn was then sown and the result is an unusual crop.

High water covered the land shortly after the seed was planted this spring. The four ears Mr. Cheatwood brought to the city measure 13 inches in length and are on display at the First National bank.

Read Hearing Tuesday
A large delegation of farmers headed by John G. Miller, Jr. of the Slocum Station community is expected in the common pleas court Tuesday morning when a hearing will be held on the petition to have the route of the Portsmouth-Oak Hill Jackson road changed so that it will go up Happy Hollow instead of over Allegheny Hill.

The hearing is to begin at ten o'clock with G. M. Anderson, Division Engineer of the State Highway Department present to hear the argument for and against the selection of the Happy Hollow route.

Some who favor the Allegheny Hill route are expected to be present to present claims for the selection of this route.

Not Just So Much Brick, Mortar and Steel But an Institution of Friendliness, Courtesy and Service

Thousands of folks stop on Chillicothe street to admire and feel proud of Portsmouth's greatest store as its added stories gradually push their way upward. They begin to comprehend and realize that Andersons' Store will not only be always the largest in the community, but comparisons are now being made with Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton and Cleveland stores. Thus with one great stride in our "Seven-league boots" Andersons' Store steps into the company of the greatest departments stores in Ohio, and "going out of Portsmouth to shop" is more futile than ever, for the big city store is right at your threshold. And even better than the great city stores, is Andersons', for here you are "Mrs. Jones" or "Mrs. Brown" being waited upon by friendly salespeople whom you know and who know you; you are not addressed with the stilted "Madam" nor waited on in an impersonal manner.

Friendliness, Courtesy and Attentiveness go with every transaction at Andersons'. This is a "human" store, where "people" are "folks" and where, as for more than fifty years, we consider our mission one of service.

And so, our big store a-building is not just so much brick, mortar and steel but a greater and larger store home to give us more room to increase the scope of our service to a community that has seen fit to compliment us with its increasing confidence through more than half a century.

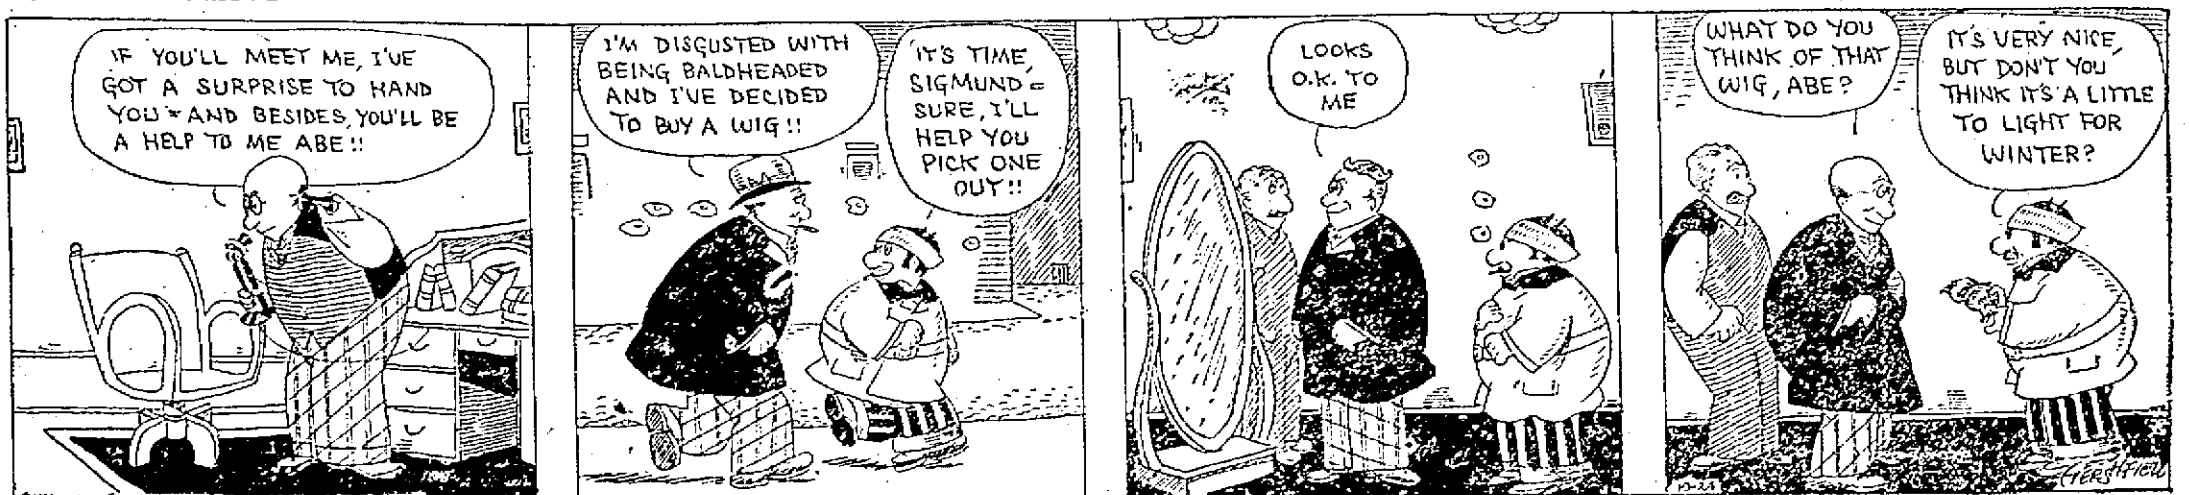

Watch the building progress.

SENATOR HARRISON FLAYS THE REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION

Holds Up Do-Nothing Record To Public Mirror; Pays Respects To Teapot Dome; Predicts Election of John W. Davis

Portsmouth tendered Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, a very hearty and enthusiastic reception at the Democratic mass meeting last night, when he addressed an audience of more than a thousand women and men in the High School auditorium. The brilliant orator from the "Land of Magnolia Blossoms" captivated his audience right off the reel and for more than an hour and a half he entertained his hearers with his wit and humor, which he frequently injected into his discussion of the issues of the campaign. The distinguished Mississippian is one of the most gifted and eloquent orators that has ever appeared in this city and he lived up all advance notices as a forceful and entertaining public speaker.

"During his disclosure he pointed to the achievements of the Democrats and compared it to the 32 years of misrule at Washington under the present administration, declaring that the progressive elements never had a finer opportunity to dethrone reaction and get into control of the government than today. The speaker was frequently cheered as he poked

Paid Tribute To The Wilson Administration

The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the record of John W. Davis, the Democratic standard-bearer, as a public service, and declared that the West Virginia candidate is the best fitted man to be president of the United States who has ever been nominated for that position by any party. He predicted the election of Davis on November 4, when he said that the Democrats will come into their own and redeem the country. He rapped the tariff, assailed the proposed ship subsidy and Mellon income tax plan, both of which were defeated through the efforts of the Democrats, and scathingly denounced the corruption that infected the Harding administration, declaring that Coolidge can not be wholly blamed for his silence because he was intimidated from the stench that extends from the scandals uncovered at Washington. He referred to the Teapot Dome, Daugherty and veterans' bureau scandals, and declared that Coolidge was never known to move except under the stinging lash of a Democratic whip.

Senator Harrison was given an ovation when he had finished, but before he concluded he took occasion to thank the people of Portsmouth for the fine greeting extended him. J. Alden Stoker, chairman of the county campaign committee, presided over the meeting, which was a half hour late in starting because of a delay in the arrival of Mrs. Harrison. Mrs. Harrison, of Cleveland, who was scheduled to speak before Senator Harrison, who started speaking at 8:30. Mrs. Ewing was delayed by a breakdown of her automobile when near Chillicothe and did not arrive before the conclusion of Senator Harrison's address and without short talk, discussing state issues, during which she urged the re-election of Governor Yie Donahoe.

Senator Harrison said in part: "The Republican administration has been corroded with corruption. Its subalterns have not only taken from the public's richest treasures but they have been permitted to continue as welcomed counselors

A FEW HARRISON HITS

"The corruption of this Administration has corroded the corridors and rotted the rafters of the Capitol."
"Its subalterns have not only taken from the public's richest treasures but have been permitted to continue as welcomed counselors in its inner circles."
"The alacrity of the Administration in the prosecution of Fall, Forbes and Daugherty is quite indicative of the ability it has displayed in all other matters."
"Coolidge was never known to move except under the stinging lash of a Democratic whip."
"Coolidge's inactivity is exceeded only by his protracted silence."

"McLellan is the dominating influence at Washington. He pulls the strings and Coolidge jumps. It may have been the voice of Cal, but it was the hand of Andrew. These two are the silent 'Goldust Twins' of this Administration."

"I feel sorry for Coolidge. He cannot be wholly blamed for his silence. He is asphyxiated from the stench that exudes from the scandals of this Administration."

"His friends say that as Presiding Officer of the Senate, he had ears but did not hear, eyes but did not see. Well, if he possessed a nose he would have smelled the scandals, everybody else did."

"The Republican Party can be saved only if its rank and file repudiate such reactionary leadership. I have tendered my support to aid in the reformation."

"Republicans should know that it is better for the Republican Party to be defeated than for the Government to be destroyed."

"When party leadership becomes so arrogant that it is caltossed to the wishes of the people, then a change must be demanded. The lesson that Roosevelt and other progressives within the Republican Party taught a decade ago, is now forgotten. They are drunk on power, chloroformed on corruption."

"Once upon a time—"

Careful Cal lost his Sleep
And didn't know where to find him,
So he wired to Ned; and Sleep came home
Wagging his Fall behind him."

"The leadership of the Republican Party consists of two elements—those that have been indicted and those that have not."
"A vote against Davis is a vote for despair. One for Coolidge is to continue chaos."

revealed by his colleagues in the debate upon the floor of the House of Representatives, that evidently the man who offered to stake his all in defense of Fall, when Fall was promoted as his most confidential advisor and secretary. Sleep was the ideal man to advise Fall and McLean, and straighten out the tangled web in which falsehood and corruption had enmeshed this Administration. In these circumstances, McLean was clothed with all the authority of an agent of the Department of Justice. The secret code was not withheld from him. The White House wires and White House operator were to be used by him. He was favored with the highest privileges and every secret agency of the Government was made accessible to him. That his work might be expedited and protected with every safeguard of secrecy. Was it an admirable trait in the President to permit such a contact with such a man in such circumstances? With all of these facts known by the American people, did it raise the President in the minds of the right thinking American people, and does it add to his credit as a candidate in this contest with such a man in such circumstances? Where would labor be today if it had not been for the efforts of the Democratic party? J. W. Davis was a member of the Sixty-second congress which created the Clayton Anti-trust statute and anti-injunction legislation, he was one of the forward looking men who voted for that program and assisted in accomplishing all of that progressive legislation. He has always been on the side of progress and in this election neither the laboring man nor the progressive enthusiast can afford to cast his vote for the independent ticket as it helps Calvin Coolidge and the Republican party by one-half a vote. Labor has always been gracious. It cannot afford to change about in this campaign.

McLean I cannot see. I only know that someone else said that the President said. But I do know that the man who offered to stake his all in defense of Fall, when Fall was promoted as his most confidential advisor and secretary. Sleep was the ideal man to advise Fall and McLean, and straighten out the tangled web in which falsehood and corruption had enmeshed this Administration. In these circumstances, McLean was clothed with all the authority of an agent of the Department of Justice. The secret code was not withheld from him. The White House wires and White House operator were to be used by him. He was favored with the highest privileges and every secret agency of the Government was made accessible to him. That his work might be expedited and protected with every safeguard of secrecy. Was it an admirable trait in the President to permit such a contact with such a man in such circumstances? With all of these facts known by the American people, did it raise the President in the minds of the right thinking American people, and does it add to his credit as a candidate in this contest with such a man in such circumstances? Little Cal has lost his Sleep,
And don't know where to find him;
So he wired to Ned and Sleep came home
So he wired to Ned and Sleep came home
Wagging his Fall behind him.

It is inconceivable that the American people will sanction such a desertion upon the part of their leaders by retaining them in power for four more years. If such be the case, what compensation is there for honest effort and honest endeavor? If this Government survives, and it will, it must be through honesty in its administration. Corruption in Government inevitably leads to destruction. Honesty in public service must rise above partisanship.

Says Progressives Have Real Opportunity

The progressive elements never had a finer opportunity to dethrone reaction and get into control of the government than today. In order to do that, its forces cannot divide. It matters not how high in esteem the laboring people of this country might feel toward the candidacy of Mr. La Follette. We can admire his courage, his progressive tendencies and his untiring energy but even so that does not justify labor, those forward looking men and women in America who believe that progressivism should control this Democratic party. In this election either Calvin Coolidge or John W. Davis will be elected. God knows those who believe in clean and honest government as well as progress in government cannot afford to take any step or make any move that will give the slightest encouragement toward the election of Calvin Coolidge and the enthronement for the next four years of the reactionary forces of the country.

Why should labor that is indebted to the Democratic party for every place of wholesome legislation in its behalf fall in with this campaign? Where would labor be today if it had not been for the efforts of the Democratic party? J. W. Davis was a member of the Sixty-second congress which created the Clayton Anti-trust statute and anti-injunction legislation, he was one of the forward looking men who voted for that program and assisted in accomplishing all of that progressive legislation. He has always been on the side of progress and in this election neither the laboring man nor the progressive enthusiast can afford to cast his vote for the independent ticket as it helps Calvin Coolidge and the Republican party by one-half a vote. Labor has always been gracious. It cannot afford to change about in this campaign.

The Coolidge Caravan Is a Novel Adventure

In speaking of the Coolidge caravan, Senator Pat Harrison said: "That is a most novel adventure. It is perfectly proper that it should be called a Coolidge caravan. Caravans are relics of antiquity. They are known among the oil fields of Mesopotamia and the pyramids and sphinxes of Egypt. It is natural, during this period of sphinx-like silence, that caravans should be resurrected. It is natural that the friends of this administration from the secluded land of Plymouth should visit other parts of the country, even to the oil fields of late, lamented Newberry, the pampered child of this administration, for whom every artifice and subterfuge were employed to defend his nefarious and corrupt election to the U. S. Senate. They might travel across the burning plains of the great northwest, listen to the out-cries of the farmers against the treatment accorded to them by their administration. They might cross into the Rockies and there listen to the cries and wails of the shippers of that section against the treatment accorded to them by this administration in the negligence employed against a reduction of freight rates. Aye, they might even travel and finally pitch their tents near the home of Doheny, right at the Naval Oil Reserves of California, sequestered and squandered by the conspirators of their own party."

Claims Republicans Trying to Cover Misdeeds

The whole policy of the Republican management of this campaign is to create in the public mind such confusion that it would be diverted from the misdeeds, inaction and corruption of this Administration. It is an exceptional campaign, in that it claims the election rather than legislative or administrative achievements. Its leaders are adroit, in that they know the more the political waters are muddied, the less legislative trash and administrative rubbish can be detected at the bottom of the pool. Why do they not charge the Democratic party with dereliction to duty in pressing on and uncovering the corruption in the Veterans Bureau, the Teapot Dome, the Department of Justice and elsewhere? Why do they not present the issue to the American people clearly, so that the verdict in November can be rendered without confusion or influenced by the practice of deception?

In this campaign, the Coolidge managers can claim the world, but the Democratic party claims upon its record a Republican repudiation and a Democratic victory. Any other verdict cannot come from the hearts of a grateful and just people, and it must not be.

One of the closest men to this months we have had "Coolidge and Chaos." How can the situation be remedied, if the Republican nominee is retained in the White House? Have we any assurance that this chaos will disappear? Have we any other than business confusion will be removed? What America needs is the administration of the Government under certain fixed and definite and wise progressive policies. It desires first that the men who control the Government shall be able, shall be courageous and shall be honest. Secondly, it desires that there shall be such harmony and cooperation between the legislative and executive branches of the Government as to insure the passage of wise and safe and progressive laws without confusion or delay. It believes in the administration of these laws, economically, honestly, and in such spirit of unity as to create in the public mind and among business of all kinds confidences and security in their Government.

Harvey Is Close To The Administration

It is impossible to believe that he can or will have a majority in the Senate or in the House in accord with his views or who will accept his policies. The few times that he has broken his sphinx-like silence and expressed himself on public questions, they have been contrary to the views of the Congress or the crystallized public opinion of America. Why should business in this country steeple itself for the next four years by attempting to do a thing that it must know will slow down America's development and halt business efforts for that period? There will be chaos among the tens of millions of consumers who are suffering under the weight of exorbitant tariff rates and high taxes. The American Congress will be of one mind—the President of another. There will be confusion among the thousands of soldiers. The President will be of one mind and the people of another.

There will be chaos among the honest business people who desire that world markets shall be open, European rehabilitation hastened and our international trade increased. Coolidge will be of one mind—Congress another.

There will be chaos among the thousands of laboring men who are existing by the hardest, scarcely making ends meet, whose living conditions should be improved and many burdensome obstacles lifted. Coolidge will be of one mind—Congress of another. There will be chaos among the farmers and the live stock men whose dollar has constantly depreciated in value and whose appeals for equal and fair treatment have fallen upon deaf ears. Coolidge will be of one mind—Congress of another. There will be chaos among the thousands of Government employees whose wages have not been increased so that they might combat the soaring high cost of living. Coolidge will be of one mind—the Congress of another.

more the interest of the farmers and the laboring people and the consumers is to be compensated, then this militant minority will grow under the endorsement of the American people in November into a real co-ordinated and high purpose majority. Democratic principles and policies are so well defined and so wholeheartedly subscribed to by every Democrat that if John W. Davis should be elected President in November, together with a Democratic Congress, the honest business people and farmers and wage earners and every American citizen can confidently rely upon such fixed policies and courage, and certainly in the administration of the law and co-operation between the Executive and legislative branches of the Government that chaos will disappear. Davis dispels the dilemma, Coolidge means Chaos.

Country Safe for Democracy; Sydney Is Swayed By Harrison

By Sydney Strange

Never having voted in this part of the state, we registered last night and then strolled over to the High School, where Senator "Pat" Harrison was holding forth. We wanted to see if he could influence our vote. Expecting a mere handful of rather luke-warm voters, we snuggled in rather indifferently, but "came to" with a start when we found the auditorium packed and enthusiastic applause ringing out every few moments.

From our leaning post against the door-jam we looked across the sea of bald and near-bald heads to where above a bunch of dahlia, the American flag and a portrait of John W. Davis a big loose-jointed man was shaking his right arm violently toward the wings of the stage, while with his left he followed up the other member in a graphic imitation of a calf galloping "cow-ward" at sucking time, and a big, warm voice roared "Run, you suckers," (evidently the term was applicable to the Republicans).

The arms came back to normal position, and as the senator thrust his thumbs into the watch-pockets of his vest (a favorite posture) we studied his appearance while listening to his ridicule of the "Cucumber Tariff," delivered in a high falsetto voice which made the sarcasm more telling. For Senator Harrison is past master of the art of poking fun at his opponents.

The senator's forehead is high, in fact so high that it will not be long before it extends back to meet the little bald circle on the crown of his head. His gestures are sweeping, and after a particularly vigorous swing he tucks his thumbs carefully in those vest pockets as though to anchor them for awhile. But it is with his voice that he plays on the emotions of his audience and tells tellingly. For at times the voice is deep and earnest, then it can assume most humorous falsetto, and sink immediately to warm, vibrant tones as he pleads for something which he holds dear to the interests of America.

Unless some better speaker comes along we guess we'll vote for "Pat."

One of the most interested spectators at the Harrison meeting last night was Plumbing Inspector William West. He met Senator Harrison at the Democratic National convention in New York in June and they became good friends.

Senator Harrison was a frequent visitor to the Ohio headquarters and he has always shown an active interest in Ohio politics. He is a great admirer of former Governor James M. Cox, of this state and worked valiantly in behalf of his candidacy when he ran for president. Mr. West said today.

"Move, somebody! Do something!" came from Miss Turner in an hysterical shriek.

"Oh, Douglas!" Miss Mattie cried, and tottered to a chair.

"Who—who did it?" gasped Nan, her voice almost inaudible.

"Who did it?" asked Miss Turner. "There he stands—with his weapon still in his hand!"

"I didn't do it," Malcolm Finley said, and quickly added, "I don't think I did."

"Oh, you don't!" and Miss Turner's scorn fell on him. "Well, then, Mrs. Raynor did it! As I came to this door I heard the shot, and before I could get the light on I saw you both—"

"How could you see without the lights on?" asked Orville Kent, sternly.

Ezra Goddard came then, shocked and wondering; Hatfield, the butler, peered, and several maid servants huddled in the background.

"Somebody must take charge here," Goddard said, going toward the stricken man; "perhaps he isn't dead."

"Oh," said Nan, her frightened eyes staring. "Isn't he?"

"Hush, Nan," said her brother. "Will you let me take you to your room?"

"No, no, Orville, I must stay here—must! You stay by me."

"Yes, Nan," and Kent placed her in a big chair, and then sat near her. (Continued in Our Next Issue)

The Affair at Flower Acres

© 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Malcolm Finley, returning from Japan, is invited to Flower Acres, the Long Island home of Douglas Raynor, husband of Nancy, who is a famous society hostess. Finley discovers that Raynor is tyrannizing over Nancy and is incensed. At Flower Acres are Ezra Goddard, friend of Finley; Nancy; her devoted brother, Orville Kent; Douglas Raynor; Raynor's sister, Miss Mattie; and others. Finley realizes that he is regarded with suspicion by Raynor and Miss Mattie because of his old love affair with Nancy. This—and the constant abuse Raynor heaps upon his wife—anger Finley extremely. Raynor overhears a conversation between Finley and Nancy and orders Finley to leave the house. "I promise that if you will remove your presence I will at once transform myself into the most gentle, loving and kind-hearted of husbands," he says. "You can never say another word to me, of any sort whatever!" And in a fury Finley left them.

He was sure he had made a fool of himself. Sure he had become Nan's rival, and likewise fond of gay little house.

Madamsome Mattie had been looking out her window at the two, strolling across the lawn, but there was no more to it than idle curiosity.

It was her habit to watch everything and everybody, in hope of learning something she was not meant to know.

From her own room, with the windows all open, she had heard her brother leave the terrace and go into the sun parlor—that was doubtless to avoid the dampness.

She had heard Malcolm Finley, at the same time, leave the terrace and go into the house, walking through the rear hall, and out on the east veranda. She had listened intently but didn't hear Nan follow him—a distinct disappointment to Miss Mattie.

Mr. Goddard, she knew, was in his own room. And Eva Turner was listening about, now in her bedroom, then on the stairs, then to the kitchen and back again—of course, intent upon her dietary duties.

Disparaging of any further sounds of interest, Miss Mattie snuggled up her lights and looked at her clock. It was five minutes to seven, then, time to begin to dress for dinner. And then, though not listening intently, Miss Mattie's ears were startled by the sound of a single shot.

Indeed, at first she didn't recognize it as a shot. So often a supposed shot had been a blow-out or a burst fire, that now, when it was really a shot, she naturally thought it something else. For a moment no sounds followed, and then various light footsteps could be heard below.

Still unthinking of tragedy, Miss Mattie stepped out into the hall, and, though hall and stairs were unlighted, she felt her way to the luncheon rail and started slowly down the stairs.

When half way down she could discern a white figure standing in the doorway between the hall and the sun parlor, but as she went on, the figure which she knew to be that of Eva Turner went through the doorway and the next instant the lights of the sun parlor were flashed on.

Miss Mattie scanned the rest of the way down into the sun room.

On the floor lay her brother in an ungainly heap, near him stood Malcolm Finley, an automatic pistol in his hand, and by the door, her hand still on the light switch, stood Eva Turner.

She was not looking at Finley, but in the opposite direction, toward the vest door of the sun room.

And at that door, in another moment, appeared Nan, white-faced and terrified.

Then, as Nan stepped into the room, Orville, Kent also came in from the south side, through the outside door, that opened on the lawn and flower beds that ran down to the brook.

"What is it?" he cried; then, catching sight of Raynor's fallen figure, and taking in Finley with the pistol, Kent sprang across the room to put his arm round the shaking form of his sister.

"I'm jealous of your other Prince," Kent muttered, and Dolly said, seriously, "He isn't really mine, he's Nan's."

"Nonsense! What has Nan to do with Princes?"

"Oh, it doesn't matter, that she's married to that old hobgoblin. I mean that can't stop her loving her Prince."

"Don't, Dolly; it isn't nice for a little girl to say things like that!"

"Nice or not—it's true talk. You see, Nan ought to have married Mr. Finley in the first place."

"Hush, Dolly," Kent spoke sternly. "Nan's my sister, and I forbid you to gossip about her."

"All right, Orville, I won't. Miss Mattie isn't your sister, is she? May I talk about her?"

"Yes, if you like," and the young man smiled.

"Well, she's a meddlesome / Mattie. What do you suppose she's doing now? She's looking down here at us!"

The two were on the bridge now, and the little rustic affair that added picturesqueness to the scene, Dolly had turned and was looking back toward the house.

"What sharp eyes you have," Kent said, looking, too. "I can scarcely see her. The dark comes quickly."

"Yes," Dolly looked at her wrist-watch. "It's just seven o'clock. I must run, Goodby, Orville."

"Goodby," Kent said, looking at his own watch, and starting off toward the house.

ON THE FLOOR LAY HER BROTHER IN AN UNGAINLY HEAP, NEAR HIM STOOD FINLEY.

Finley went to his room, but he did not at once begin to pack his things. He sat down by a window and gazed out over the flowers, to the sea and sky, and his thoughts grew calmer and more practical.

Was there no way he could help Nan? No task would be too hard, no service too difficult, if he could but make up for the trouble and annoyance he had caused her.

For he had small doubt but that Raynor would wreak on his wife the anger he must feel toward himself, Finley. A long time he thought, and sighed as he pondered.

And then, instead of packing his kit and starting for the train, he latched and dressed and presented himself on the western terrace just as tea was being brought there.

Finley did not look at his host or speak to him, but as there were present most of the family, and a few neighbors, this omission was not noticed.

To Eliminate Dunns Along Scioto Trail

Elimination of dust on Scioto Trail in Pike and Ross counties for early next year, according to word given out by G. M. Anderson, division engineer of the state highway department with headquarters at Chillicothe.

Recently T. J. Coe, secretary of the Portsmouth Automobile club wrote to Mr. Anderson complaining of the rough condition of the trail between Wakefield and Waverly. In reply to this communication Engineer Anderson sent the following:

"Several days ago I issued instructions for the maintenance forces to do everything within their power to bring this section up to its standard. You no doubt realize that exceedingly dry weather has played havoc with the gravel roads that are subjected to heavy travel.

"We hope to be able to give this a surface treatment early next year in both Ross and Pike counties so that the people of Southern Ohio may travel to the north without passing over a long stretch of dusty road.

"The meantime rest assured that we will do our best to keep this section in good condition to the full extent of the funds available.

NEW BOSTON HOLINESS MISSION

Beside our regular Sunday afternoon and evening service, Sunday school, prayer meetings, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, we desire to announce that on Nov. 25th we will hold our annual meeting in the new Boston Holiness Mission. The meeting will continue through December 7th. We have secured as our evangelist Rev. Miss Hattie Hickman of Coopers, W. Va. Sister Hickman was with us last March and needs no introduction to the general public here. We have also secured the services of Professor C. C. Childers and as song leaders. On our last Sunday we will have a memorial meeting celebrating the event of our dedication anniversary. We will begin our worship with a street march, followed by a bread-breaking and love-feast. The memorial sermon will be preached by Sister Hickman. We have our Mission Hall enlarged and with seats and we expect to be able to seat about five hundred and fifty people. We want the general public to know that we stand by the old landmarks of scriptural holiness, welcoming everybody who has the blessing of water baptism in it, but positively denies having any spiritual relationship with people who believe in the theories of "tonicisms" or "ecumenism." We are expecting a great gathering of God's people. Come and get blessed.

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., Oct. 18.—Tulip Shadel, 19-year-old farm hand, accused a woman of plotting to murder her husband, Harvey G. Willow, farmer, gave additional testimony today against Mrs. Annie S. Willow, on trial for complicity in the killing of her husband. Shadel, who has been sentenced to 10 to 20 years for his part in the crime, denied that he had written the love message read in court yesterday.

Counsel for Mrs. Willow contended they had been written by him and sent to Mrs. Willow while both were in the Snyder county jail.

"The prisoner witness testified that he wrote only one of the 11 letters read. That was a rather casual letter, he said, inquiring how Mrs. Willow liked her treatment in jail. Several of the exhibits had been written on the inside of chewing gum wrappers. Sheriff Runkle testified that he had several times accompanied Mrs. Willow in her request to "take to Shadel this pack of chewing gum." He said he was certain she had been writing messages to Shadel on the inside of the wrappers.

SMOKE HOUSE AND WELLSTON TEAMS CLASH IN MILLBROOK PARK SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 on Millbrook field the Smoke House team will meet the strong Wellston Independents in what is expected to be one of the hardest fought contests on the local squad's schedule.

This is the second game to be played by the two teams, the Smoke House boys winning the first in Wellston recently by a score of 7-6 and reports from up the B. & O. indicate that Wellston is out for revenge.

With Steve Left and Plan in the backfield under the able guidance of Jimmy Taylor at quarter the Smoke House team will present a formidable as well as an aggressive lineup and Wellston should have a tough time winning.

MANCHESTER, Oct. 18.—A jury hearing the case of Mayor Milburn Boone of Manchester in juvenile court here with Judge Will P. Stephenson in charge is expected to get the case early this evening. The attorneys for the defense Judge A. Z. Blair of Portsmouth and C. E. Roebuck of this place expect to have all their witnesses examined and evidence introduced by the time court is adjourned late this afternoon.

The state concluded its introduction of witnesses this morning when several were recalled. The defense immediately started calling witnesses and by the time court adjourned at noon about 15 witnesses had been heard for Mayor Boone who is also a rural school teacher.

Mayor Boone is charged with contributing to the delinquency of Thelma Roush, 15 year old daughter of J. B. Roush of Manchester.

On the stand yesterday the Roush girl testified she was with Mayor Boone in West Union during the night of September 21. Evidence introduced this morning by the defense proved a complete alibi for Mayor Boone on these two allegations. The time this afternoon was taken up by the defense endeavoring to establish an alibi for the night of September 21. Charges were filed against the official after it is alleged he had the girl in a parked automobile in a field some distance from Manchester, the night of September 21. Mayor Boone claims he is innocent of the charge and says that it is all a frame-up to injure him politically. He is known as a reform mayor and has been clamping down on law violators in Manchester and says that it is because of this that an attempt is being made to injure his good name and character.

Judge A. Z. Blair of Portsmouth, and Attorney C. E. Roebuck, of this place, represent the defendant while County Prosecutor J. R. Kessler is being assisted by Attorney S. A. Shively of this place and A. H. Holderness of Manchester.

The case has aroused considerable interest in Manchester and West Union and the big court room is crowded at every session.

Woman Killed By Auto
ASHLAND, Ky., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Mary B. Harrison, 63, was almost instantly killed Friday when she was struck by a car driven by Norman Hatcher, of Oakview. The accident happened at the intersection of Carver avenue and Fifteenth street where Mrs. Harrison was attempting to cross the street. She died enroute to the hospital. Hatcher gave himself up and was later held to the grand jury under $500 bond on a charge of manslaughter.

W. H. Burt was foreman of the jury, which was called on, demand of Attorney J. T. Micklethwait for the defense, and the jurors answered in the affirmative when Clerk John W. Hall asked each member of the panel if the verdict just read was his or her verdict.

After Judge Thomas had called the defendant before the bar for sentence, Attorney Micklethwait caused a mild sensation by claiming, in support of a motion for a new trial, that he had reliable information that one of the jurors had declared in a statement before he was accepted as a juror that Mrs. Merriman ought to be sent to the penitentiary. The attorney stated that he expected to file affidavits in support of his charge of alleged misconduct on the part of the juror as grounds for a new hearing and the court deferred sentence to allow time to prepare and file the affidavits.

Mrs. Merriman was remanded to jail in default of bond pending disposing of the motion for a new hearing, while her husband, Lloyd B. Merriman, and her brother, Don Taylor and his wife, Louise Taylor, were ordered released from custody on their own recognizance to meet the other indictments pending against them, though it is unlikely that the other charges will be pressed.

Mrs. Merriman and her companions were indicted in connection with obtaining $320 by false pretenses from Mrs. Rebecca Snedecor, of Summit street, last July, the alleged fraud consisting of representations claimed to have been made by Mrs. Merriman in respect to having large sums of money coming from her deceased mother's estate and from the American Research Society, in addition to pretending to possess the power to communicate messages from the spirit of Mrs. Snedecor's deceased son, Clarence Snedecor, soldier, who was killed in France while fighting with the American army seven years ago. Mrs. Snedecor testified that while she was conversing with her deceased son through the medium, a voice told her to give Mrs. Merriman the money.

Mrs. Merriman admitted receiving large sums of money from both Mrs. Snedecor and Mrs. Attoria Goad during the past summer while she was her endeavoring to organize a spiritualistic church in this city but insisted that most of the money was given her in the nature of loans which she expected to pay back. For lack of convincing evidence connecting the other three defendants with the alleged fraud they were dismissed on motion of counsel for the state and defense yesterday and Judge Thomas relieved the jury from further consideration of the case in respect to the trial.

WHY TAXES ARE HIGH

THE other day, in answer to the problem of why people of Scioto county are facing a tremendous increase in their taxes next year and will face still further increase the following year unless they vote the tax spenders out of office, The Times cited facts from the record as to the sums paid for a road improvement projected near Otway. That record was something of an eye opener to most tax payers. It gave them a glimmering as to why it was when their schools needed more money, or some other extraordinary expenditure was required, there was no money on hands and a bond issue was necessary. But this is not an isolated instance. We wish that it was. (And, by the way, we hope those of our readers who own automobiles, will take a look at this Otway land bought by our county bosses at such splendid figures, and then do some tall thinking.)

Now we wish to mention another instance of liberality in the matter of changing roads by our county officials. Just beyond Minford the county road to Stockdale runs through a farm owned by Mr. Sampson D. Eckhart. He is an excellent and thrifty gentleman. His family has made it a habit of practicing politics. His brother was sheriff and held various other offices, that is Mr. John Eckhart. He now holds a lucrative federal job. Mr. Sampson Eckhart, himself has held offices also. He was county auditor, you will remember. He expects to "come back."

But getting back to Mr. Eckhart's farm and the county road that runs through it. Also there runs through the farm a Jim Crow sort of a creek. It was washing the county road. So a sort of flood wall was built. It did not last. The creek washed it out, or undermined it. Then, in order to save the road, remember, the county commissioners, after consultation with Mr. Eckhart and other citizens, decided to eliminate a curve in the road at the danger point, and thus get away from the blasted creek. To do this they would have to buy a right of way from property owners. And the property owners consisted of Mr. Sampson Eckhart. In all, three acres of land was required from him. Mr. Eckhart was liberal and wanted to be fair with the county. Accordingly he put a price of $4000 on his three acres. There was some dickering. Finally the county paid Mr. Eckhart for those three acres the sum of two thousand dollars. And so the road is being changed.

But—and here is the rub—Mr. Eckhart's land, for taxes, is on the duplicate for $50 an acre. According to the tax valuation, the three acres he sold to the county was worth $150. Yet he received $2000 or $666.66 and 2-3 an acre.

Mr. Tax Payer, do you not think the time has come for a change, that a little light should be shed on county affairs? There will be other instances to follow.

THE SCHOOL TAX

THE voter will find a ballot placed in his hands, at the next election, calling for the warrant of a special three mill levy for school purposes.

Admitted it is not a pleasant duty to vote a tax on one's self, here is an instance where the act should be accepted as a matter of course.

An affirmative vote means the public schools will go on uninterruptedly; a negative vote means their usefulness must be seriously curtailed, they will not be able to operate for the full term, perhaps, not as much as a half term. Of course, that is a condition not to be allowed.

Anyway, the tax isn't going to be so much of a burden as it at first blush presents itself. For it will not be an entirely new one, but an old one, or, at least, a former one continued. Some years ago it was voted and it has been paid from year to year without thought that it was special.

We love; we droop; we die!
Ah! wherefore do we laugh or weep?
Why do we live, or die?
Who knows that secret deep?
Alas, not I.

Why doth the violet spring

Why do the radiant seasons bring

Why do our fond hearts cling

We toil,—through pain and wrong;
We fight,—and fly;

Stone-dead we lie.

"Oh, I'm not kicking," replied the customer cheerfully, as he opened the door. "Only I thought I'd tell you that your blamed old slot meter blows fire out the game time, and I haven't been doing anything but pick up silver quarters all over the cellar ever since. Good day!"

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY C. O. McINTIRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—There is one of those leap and catch at the air dancers in a Broadway show who appears twice at each performance wearing a loin cloth. The rest of his anatomy is painted with a bronze colored preparation. In the third act he wears a coating of peacock blue paint. He cavorts about the stage for about five minutes each time, but so strenuous is his work under the circumstances that he has several times reached the wings in a swoon. The body paint closes the pores. The physical torture is exhausting and two doctors have told him the part he is playing will in a very short while bring on a fatal stroke. He in turn says he has been 15 years reaching Broadway and he would rather die than stop out.

This actor is an illuminating example of the lure of the spotlight. He is known only by a name on the program. His face is completely disguised by the paint and no one in the audience would ever recognize him off stage. The only compensation is the faint applause of the audience as he finishes his twirling and leaping. His salary is perhaps $75 a week. Any stage dancing school could furnish a substitute for him by telephone in 15 minutes.

Out of his salary he must pay an assistant who has the unusual job of painting his body with the mixture. It must be put on 45 minutes before he appears so that it thoroughly dries before he does his stuff.

There used to be a fellow who played the front end of a music believe lion in a musical show. There was only a slight peep-hole through which he saw and also breathed. The audience never saw him. He refused to abandon the suffocating role and developed an illness that killed him.

Then there is the tragic story of the small town stock company actor who teleled for 10 years to land on Broadway. He was undersized and had a cast in his eye. His forthright won the sympathy of a producer and he was given the role of the sewer rat in "Seventh Heaven." He played for only a few weeks when the ravages of malnutrition from which he had suffered in his desire to reach Broadway caused him to collapse in his dressing room one night. Three days later he died in a hospital. He had achieved Broadway although his role was only that of a worker in filthy clothes climbing out of a sewer sewer but he passed away content. He had "made" Broadway.

This actor, by the way, came from a little town on the Ohio River four miles above where I was raised. When I was a boy he appeared on river show boats and later I ran across him now, and then in small separate companies. He was a self-effacing, kindly fellow, temperate and religiously inclined. It is difficult to imagine the most ephemeral of all worldly glories enticed him to such a calamitous end. His name was Fred Holloway.

There are at least 50 stockbrokers who have lately opened offices in the White Light District. Broadway has its Little Wall Street. Many capitalists are complaining that their employees are not only emulating their offices—but their pockets—to play the market. Instead of eating at the lunch hour they watch the ticker. ### ALMOST BEYOND BELIEF

WERE not the figures set down in black and white, on the official record of their own proceedings it would be utterly impossible to believe that the commissioners of Scioto county had paid a land holder $1,523 for a fraction of an acre of practically valueless land.

There isn't an element lacking to make "the deal" disgustingly stupid, or worse. The land holder, David Watson, had a tract of four and ten-hundredths of an acre. This tract was on the tax duplicate for a total of $40. The commissioners bought just a trifle over half an acre. Thus they paid at the rate of $3,000 an acre for land that would be high at $15. To make the situation worse these same commissioners let an option on the Watson piece expire and paid him even more than the ridiculous figure in the option.

And the crowning feature of it all is that Watson will benefit by the laying of the road north of the railway track, since it will give him an outlet, which he has not had.

And here is another deal, a contrast, in securing right of way for the Portsmouth-Otway pike, so it will not wind a half dozen times over the railway track. David Lewis owns there along a tract of one and a quarter acres, down for taxation at $150. The commissioners paid him $800 for slightly over one-third of an acre, or at the rate of $2,400 per acre, 15 times the valuation Lewis places on all his land. But on the other hand the commissioners allowed George Walsh only $50 for practically two acres, yet Mr. Walsh's 70 acres are down for a tax valuation of $2,240. Had Mr. Walsh been paid at the same ratio as Mr. Lewis he would have gotten $4,800. His land brought ten dollars less than the average acreage assessment. He seems to have passed up a golden opportunity.

Can you understand why the commissioners would pay one man $1,523 for a fraction over one-half an acre when they had to pay his neighbor only $50 for almost two acres of much better land?

We can't, but we can see why taxes are going up this year from $2 to $2.40.

Deputy Marshal Indicted
HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 18.—Indictment charging larceny of thirty dollars from the person of Andy Thompson was returned Thursday by the circuit court grand jury in session, at Logan against Deputy United States Marshal Robert H. Stratton, of Logan, according to information received here.
